

October 2009 - Introducing Art Hilton

OUR NEW MARKETING DIRECTOR AND “GO-TO” GUY:

Art Hilton has been looking for us for a long time. He wanted to work in a firm where the challenges are unlimited, and where everyone appreciates what he does. We've been looking for him too. We wanted a solid, mature, hit the ground running, savvy sales and marketing champion with a little “grey hair” (experience), and Art fills that mold perfectly.

Art has an interesting background. His career spans 29 years in the terminal and pipeline industry. He's held in every imaginable position, from trainer to project manager, and yes, has managed a few terminals to boot. He's a real-world, “hands-on” person, and has been the “go-to” guy for the likes of Shell, Clark, Buckeye, and several others through acquisition after acquisition. Obviously, he knows the terminal business inside-out!

Look for Art. If all goes as planned, you won't have to look hard. He plans to be your “go-to” guy too, whenever you need him. Please join us in welcoming Art to the TESCO/SYMEX Americas family.
